

Is your child two?

You could get 15 hours a week of free childcare in a nursery, pre-school or childminder if your family receives any of these benefits:

- Universal Credit
 - Income support
 - Income based Jobseekers Allowance
 - Income related Employment and Support Allowance (if you are unable to work due to illness or disability)
 - The guaranteed element of State Pension Credit
 - Child Tax Credit and earn £16,190 or less per year
 - Support under Part VI of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999
 - Working Tax Credit and earn £16,190 or less per year
- Or your child
- Receives Disability Living Allowance
 - Has a current statement of special educational need or an Education, Health and Care plan; or
 - Has left care through special guardianship or an adoption or residence order.

That's 15 hours a week of playing, painting, reading, cooking, climbing, singing, dancing, dressing up, running around, building, gardening... whatever they like doing. But most of all, your child is learning with other children.

That's also 15 hours a week for you – to have a break, get stuff done at home, study or look for work.

To find out about childcare in your area and to see if your two year old child can get a free place, visit your local children's centre or speak to your Family Information Service, details of which you can find at:
